Christianizers.

An enterprising firm in Carbon purchased several dozen wire springs designed for holding the restive tail of a cow during the task of milking. A revival was in progress at the time, and all of one farmer's family and his hired man had "experienced religion," but the old gentleman himself said he could never become a Christian while he had to milk the cows, for he couldn't help swearing when one of their tails struck him across the face. This firm heard of the man, sought him out and finally succeeded in disposing of one of their springs to him under the solemn assurance that it would entirely cure him of profanity. And from that day to this those springs have never been known as anything but "Christianizers."—Lewiston Journal.

The "Mule Shearer" Spider.

Yucatan is the home of an innumerable species of spider, known all over Central America as the "mule shearer." This queer representative of the mygalid family has a habit of creeping up the legs of mules and horses and shearing off the hair that surrounds the hoof, especially the fetlock. The hair gained in this curious operation is used by the insect as a nest building material and is removed from the leg of the mule or horse by a strong pair of mandibles, which resemble those of a "pinching" bug. Animals bitten by the "mule shearer" always lose their hoofs.—St. Louis Republic.

King Khama.

King Khama, the firm ally of the British in their South African war, is a Christian, a monogamist and a teetotaler. Khama, when a youth, accompanied his father to an old Boer's to sell tasks. The Boer produced a brandy bottle and piled Khama's father with the contents until he induced him to give up a valuable quantity of ivory for a paltry lot of powder and a bar of gold. From that day Khama retained the reputation to patronize the black bottle.

Burning Pain

Erysipelas in Face and Eyes

Inflammation Subdued and Tortures Ended by Hood's.

"I am so glad to be relieved of my tortures that I am willing to tell the benefits I have derived from Hood's Sarsaparilla. In April and May, I was afflicted with erysipelas in my face and eyes, which spread to my throat and neck. I tried divers ointments and alternatives, but there was no permanent relief of the burning, torturing pain, peculiar to this complaint. I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and before I had finished the first bottle, I continued to improve until, when I had taken four bottles, I was completely cured, and felt that all signs, marks and symptoms of that dire complaint had forever vanished." Mrs. E. E. O'NEILL, Hillsboro, Wisconsin.

Hood's Pills are prompt and efficient, yet easy to take. Sold by all druggists.

ABOARD THE CRUISER.

Natives Came in Throng to Inspect the Big Flagship.

Twenty-three hundred people visited the flagship Philadelphia Saturday afternoon. Of this large number fully two thousand were natives, to whom, by the way, the invitation had been specially extended. The two steam launches of the vessel, each with a center in tow, transported the visitors back and forth. Twenty double trips were made. On the vessel the visitors were free to go anywhere and see everything. "Open house" was the order of the day. The natives enjoyed themselves hugely. To them the big white cruiser had been a closed book. Her inside was full of mysteries. They were shown everything, and all parts of the ship were carefully explained through interpreters. The average time spent aboard was an hour and a half. The last departed for the shore shortly after 5 o'clock.

J. H. GUY.

Funeral Attended by G. A. R. Men—Will of Deceased.

The funeral of the late J. H. Guy took place from the Patterson House, Hotel street, Saturday afternoon. Most of the local post, G. A. R., turned out. An American flag was folded around the casket. About twenty carriages were in the procession. Interment took place at Nuuanu cemetery. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Garvin, of the Christian church, and Adjutant Egner, of the Salvation Army. The pall-bearers were: L. De J. M. Tracy, E. Conklin, W. L. Eaton, T. Phillips and Mr. Lyons.

The will of the late J. H. Guy was opened Saturday evening. It was dated March 29, 1895, and bequeathed all the property owned by him to Mrs. I. C. Patterson, excepting $100 left to S. E. P. Taylor. Mrs. Patterson is to act with out bonds. The gift to Mrs. Patterson is a reward for the attention given deceased during his last illness.

MRS. DR. RODGERS.

Passes Away Suddenly After a Long Season of Invalidity.

Mrs. Sarah M. Rodgers, wife of Dr. Charles T. Rodgers, died at the Arlington Hotel at 10:30 o'clock Saturday night. Though she had been an invalid for about two years, death was unexpected. Mrs. Rodgers was born at Worcester, Mass., and came to this country nineteen years ago. During good health she was connected with several charitable and worthy institutions, and enjoyed many warm friendships. The funeral will take place from Central Union church at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Dr. Rodgers has the sympathy of the entire community in his bereavement.
